

“We maintain strong relationships with our affiliated charter companies and private aircraft owners, who benefit greatly from ElJet's "empty leg flight" service, so we are also able to secure the best and most affordable pricing on traditional charter flights”

-Ben Schusterman, Owner of El Jet

El Jet

In the past, the benefits of private aircraft travel were limited to an extremely exclusive group due to the staggering cost of owning and maintaining private aircraft. Recently, leaders of fortune 500 companies, heads of state, sports stars and celebrities have turned to hiring privately owned aircraft rather than actually purchasing a plane. This trend has led to the development of fractional jet ownership programs with hourly jet cards. This kind of system can work for customers who know exactly what type of aircraft they will require, as well as their general travel needs. However, because many travelers do not match this profile, the charter travel industry has stepped in to fill the void.

Private air charter services have made it possible for a wider range of travelers to take advantage of the benefits of private air travel. However, due to the cost of traditional charter flights, this option has also remained limited to a fairly exclusive group. This is where El Jet stepped in, to fill a growing need for affordable private air travel.

El Jet has partnered with some of the nations leading private vacation travel creators and some of the world's most exclusive resorts. They will ensure you to get the El Jet experience and reliability you are used to while you rest relax and allow yourself to be pampered while enjoying some of the world's most exciting and romantic get-aways.

El Jet has various facilities; they can fly into just about any airport in the world that is equipped to handle the aircraft size. Their services for the average international businessman are: travel planning, VIP transfers from commercial flights to private, ground transportation worldwide, custom catering, hotel bookings, show tickets, dinner reservations etc. Customer's safety is very crucial, that is why all aircrafts provided by affiliates of El Jet must be FAA Part 135 Air Carrier Certified. We offer the safest and most reliable air fleet you can find.

The advantage of El Jet compared to other competitors is their global expertise. They can serve a client in Japan as well as a client in the United States, London, Dubai or India. A significant portion of the business takes place outside of the United States. Their significant expertise is in “empty legs”.

El Jet has pioneered a focus on “empty leg” also known as “dead heads” flights, in which aircrafts are scheduled one-way, and return to the point of origin empty. El Jet successfully pairs travelers with the empty legs of scheduled flights and this benefits aircrafts, owners and travelers. The owners are spared the expense of flying an empty plane, and the travelers reap the benefits of significantly reduced travel costs.

El Jet has built the largest network of empty leg flights in the industry, to ensure that they can provide the most inexpensive private jet charter flights to as many destinations as possible. And while the cost of flying on an empty leg is significantly less than that of a standard charter flight, the benefits of flying privately represent a significant upgrade in luxury, flexibility, convenience and safety.

The company is privately owned. Ben Schusterman owns and started the company. He used to work for a large international real estate company with projects in China, Japan, Turkey, Israel, India, and the US. His work required much frequent travel. The company owns 4 airplanes and while flying once he realized there were ways for us to make the process easier less expensive and more efficient.

The investment in Private Jet Travel for the wealthy is crucial for long term success. Hence, the ability to be in many cities and countries in the same day. "Time is Money" and for the wealthy their time is best spent working or being well rested than sitting in an airport lobby. Also for the wealthy sitting on a private jet with employees and co-workers enables them to work in a private environment where trade secrets will not be heard. Utilizing a private jet is good for business and that is why most of El Jet's customers use a business jet for business not for personal luxury travel.

El Jet is seeing dramatic and continuous growth in Asia Pacific. With China becoming more flexible in regards to private jets the trend is expected to continue. They have shortened permit times and are now allowing more private jets to fly in China. The Asia Pacific region has been fortunate to have not been hurt as bad by the economic meltdown as the US and that is why El Jet expects significant growth in Asia.*
