EIJet Aviation Services, the fastest growing private jet charter services company in the US, has joined the Air Charter Association of North America (ACANA). EIJet is now using Wyvern Pass Reports exclusively for all pre-flight safety reports.

Los Angeles, CA (PRWEB) July 26, 2010 -- EIJet Aviation Services, an international full service private jet charter brokerage and one of the fastest growing companies in America, is pleased to announce its inclusion into ACANA, the Air Charter Association of North America. ACANA is made up of America's leading charter service providers.

ACANA, which is a non-profit organization, was established to promote air charter services companies that are committed to the highest standards of customer service and safety. ACANA members are internationally recognized by customers and charter operators alike as meeting the highest standards of ethics and the utmost level of commitment to customer safety, quality and service. Companies that are part of ACANA must demonstrate that they meet these requirements.

EIJet focuses on providing clients with the best value by tapping its vast network of empty legs to help clients avoid paying unnecessary positioning costs. The company provides additional value by enabling qualified clients to streamline the charter booking process by providing the ability to book charter flights via a simple e-mail.

By joining ACANA, EIJet Aviation Services is now universally recognized as one of the top Private Jet Charter companies in the world.

Wyvern Pass Reports/Safety Commitment

In addition to joining ACANA, EIJet has now standardized its safety requirements by exclusively using Wyvern Pass reports for all U.S. flights. EIJet requires any operator in its network to be at the minimum Argus and Wyvern rated.

"Since our establishment, clients and vendors of EIJet Aviation Services have always known that we are a leader in customer service and have always been committed to providing the best value and service without ever minimizing client safety," said Ben Schusterman, Vice President - Operations. "Our inclusion into ACANA and our commitment to exclusively use Wyvern for safety reports provides the recognition that EIJet continues to be a revolutionary force in the private jet charter industry."
